Raytheon Awarded Permit

Raytheon was granted permission to store 48,000 cubic feet of hydrogen above ground by the selectmen Monday night, after receiving additional information relative to the installation.

Abutters had objected to the storage at a hearing two weeks ago and the board tabled the decision in order to examine agreements reached between the town and Raytheon when the new plant was built off Lowell street a few years ago.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin informed the board that the installation meets all standards established by the National Fire Protection Association and that Fire Chief Henry L. Hilton had recommended approval.

Building inspector Arthur Peatmen has reviewed the zoning bylaw relative to the storage and informed the board that the storage tanks are permissible under provisions of the zoning bylaw.

With regard to agreements reached between the town, abutters to the property rezoned about five years ago, and Raytheon, the town manager reports that there is no record or knowledge of any conditions prohibiting the above ground storage of flammables.

There was no indication of any agreement, according to either

Conservation Agreement Reached

Selectman Alan F. French was commended by his colleagues Monday night as an agreement was reached on the granting of conservation land to the town by Arkwright - Boston and Hewlett-Packard in West Andover.

The agreement, part of the town meeting vote of approval for the location of the new medical electronics plant in West Andover, has been negotiated by French with the industrial firm officials.

The pact provides for the insurance firm, owners of the land, to grant easements over 100 feet of riverfront land on the Merrimack, when the town begins construction of the sewer line to the industrially zoned area.

Hewlett-Packard and Arkwright agreed to provide an easement for the town, provided Andover constructs a trunk sewer line to the property.

This was voted on at the annual town meeting.

CONCERN. Town Moderator William Dalton and Town Clerk Elden R. Salter check preparations for Monday's town meeting in an empty Memorial Auditorium. The two officials are hopeful that their surroundings as shown here will be substantially altered Monday night when a quorum of 350 registered voters will be required in order to transact business.

Town Meeting Monday

A 13-article warrant faces voters at the October town meeting Monday night and officials are concerned about the obtaining of a quorum for the session.

Unlike regular and special town meetings of the past few years, the issues facing the regular-special October meeting this year do not contain the degree of controversy evoked in the past.

Approximately $1,000 is committed in expenses for the calling of the meeting which will require the presence of 350 registered voters in order to transact business.

Moderator William Dalton has stated he expects to keep the business moving rapidly in order to complete the warrant as quickly as possible in a single evening.

Among the items which could result in controversy or debate are the mosquito control item, flood plain zoning and a resolution regarding testing in the public schools.

The mosquito control item for which $14,000 is requested, will probably be opposed by conservationists, who provide the opposition a year ago when the matter was presented to the town initially.

The flood plain zoning item is before the voters by the planning board with endorsement of both the selectmen and industrial commission. The planners feel it's a substantial contribution to the town's overall land-use plans and endorse it in view of federal legislation aimed at compelling communities to have such provisions in their zoning bylaws.

The testing matter is believed to be one of an advisory nature. Testing of public school pupils has been debated for several months by the school committee which last week adopted a policy submitted by Committeeman John F. Lyons.

Regardless of what action is taken by the town meeting Monday, it is believed the school board is not compelled to follow the mandate.

The calling of a town meeting in October is now mandatory for

Academy Tables Plan

Phillips Academy has tabled for the time being its proposal of late this past summer, to reroute Main street around the campus from Hidden road to Morton street.

In a letter to the selectmen this week, Headmaster Theodore R. Sizer stated that reactions which followed the proposal, while sympathetic to safety problems of the academy campus, "fails to take sufficient account of the later interests of the community, particularly those related to downtown Main street, to the north of the campus."

The plan proposed by the academy would have closed Route 28, Main street, as it currently passes through the campus. The new road would have curved from Hidden road around the west portion of the campus and rejoined Main street at Morton street.

The proposed road, estimated to cost $500,000, would be located entirely on land now owned by the academy.

State funds would be sought for the road construction, according to the proposal.

In his letter to the selectmen, Sizer said, "As it is clear that several groups in the town are now seriously interested in looking at the entire 'circulation' matter along Route 28, we are convinced that the academy's most constructive next step should be to 'table' any further detailed consideration of its particular proposal and to offer to join with other affected groups

Flood Plain Zone On Agenda

Among the items on Monday's town meeting agenda, which may cause some controversy, is the proposed bylaw creating a flood plain district in the town.

The article, inserted by the planning board and being endorsed by the selectmen, is designed to protect areas along both the Shawsheen and Merrimack rivers as the two streams pass through the town.

The bylaw has been before town meeting before, but never acted upon as the planning board has withdrawn it in favor of refining the proposal.

Basically the proposed bylaw is designed to protect property along the streams and to permit the town to oversee construction in these areas to avoid altering the streams.

The matter of flood plain zoning in communities is also to provide insurance protection for which Andover is eligible, provided a bylaw is on the books. A study by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, points out that despite the construction of dams and other protective devices along both the Merrimack and Shawsheen since the great floods of several years ago there is still potential of flood hazard existing along both rivers.

In Andover, the area, to be classed as in the flood plain zone consists of about 195 acres, 20 of these already developed. Much of the developed area includes property owned by Reichhold Chemical and the Shawsheen Rubber Co.

The bylaw gives instruction to the Board of Appeals which will act on the granting of building permits within the particular zone.

It is interesting to note that the Industrial Commission, after several joint meetings with the planners, finally gave its endorsement to the proposal.

Much of the acreage to be placed in the category involves industrially zoned land.

Building on the flood plain zone requires that the lowest floor must be equal to or above the flood level.

Mrs. Margaret Keck, chairman of the planning board, states that if a community is to have adequate zoning at all, then flood plain zoning should be provided for overall protection of the health and welfare of the community.

The flood plain matter has taken on significant importance in recent years.

Planners note that the federal government has been studying and on the verge of passing legislation governing flood protection.

The concern has been prompted by federal funds being applied to flood ravaged areas. Following relief, flood victims have often rebuilt in the same area, thus the need to correct such situations.

posed to the appointment of constables since his election to the board, was again the sole objector.

Appointing the three game wardens as special constables was recommended by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, in order to give them enforcement powers, if necessary.

The manager said that as game wardens they did not carry such power and performed a vital function for the town.

The three game wardens are Forrest J. Noyes, James W. Deymond and Eugene Zalla and serve without pay.

Selectman French felt that the game wardens should have training and the skills and supervision of law enforcement officers. He indicated that he was afraid that with the no hunting ban in town this year for the first time, there could be difficult problems considering possible confrontations.

Selectman George E. Heseltine said that he felt that if the town did not have the game wardens working this year there would be more problems.

Both French and Selectman Milton Greenberg agreed that the men perform a valuable service to the town and were not in objection to their appointment, but felt some training should be required.

French said that it was a question of the selectmen making the appointment and being responsi-

The 35 year old Lawrence Airport, located on about 500 acres in North Andover, is increasingly busy, according to the airport manager, Colonel Thomas J. Davies, Jr. At the moment 114 planes are kept there and there are 130,000 landings and take offs a year.

In spite of the increasing activity, "There are no plans for physical expansion," said Davies, although 'in house' improvements are planned. Davies, who has been the manager for two years, has already rebuilt the lighting system along the highways and on top of surrounding hills.

He also hired Arthur D. Little, Inc., to draw up a master plan for the next 20 years. The plan will be presented to the city officials within a month or so, after a public hearing has been held.

"Money is our main problem," said Davies. "The Lawrence budget is outdated."

Davies has been working to get a control tower erected. He labeled the situation now as "dangerous." The Federal Aviation Administration will set up a portable tower within the next two years, with a permanent tower scheduled for three or four years from now.

Financing for airport improvements comes from three sources; the federal government supplies 50 per cent, the State 40 per cent and the city 10 per cent. The State is in bad shape financially, said Davies. Last year the State had no funds at all available to airports.

The use of the airport is a composite one, both private and commercial planes fly in and out. With 5000 feet of runway space almost any kind of plane except huge jets can land. Jet planes land there almost every day. Davies has recently notified the Lawrence Airport Commission of the hazards birds who dine at the dump pose to aircraft, particularly to jets.

Davies, an Andover native and a retired pilot and airport manager from the Air Force, says that much of his energy is spent on "trying to drum up federal money for the development of the airport."

Davies has dealt with noise complaints by re-routing traffic. He also established a curfew on training flights, banning them from early morning and late evening flights on weekends. And, he said, jets are being built to be quieter. In fact, Davies said some propeller airplanes are noisier than the new jets.

North Andover's new high school was built under an air traffic lane and Davies has tried to move traffic away from the school. "If they have asked the FAA's opinion on the school site, the FAA would not have approved," said Davies.

Charter flights and flying lessons are also available at the airport from two business operations, Merrimack Aviation and Four Star Aviation. Both companies will fly anywhere, carrying people or cargo. Four Star aviation also sells airplanes and provides maintenance and gas and jet fuel.

Nino Ciannetta, owner of Merrimack Aviation, is planning to expand his services. If you want to hire a six passenger plane and pilot to take you to Boston at your convenience, both companies can accommodate you. In a couple of weeks Ciannetta plans to have two early morning flights to Logan, reservations required.

Planes are chartered for a variety of reasons. One is, of course, to get people from one place to another. Factories and industries charter planes to carry cargo. Developers not only charter planes to fly to a distant tract but also to get an aerial view of the property. Short sight seeing tours are offered to those who want to get a bird's eye view of their homes and community.

The flight schools attract people of all ages and both sexes. Usually lessons are given twice a week. The average time to get a private license is three to four months, with seven to eight months to get a commercial license.

A course in basic aviation might be offered this spring for people who are not interested in becoming pilots but who want to know more about airplanes.

If you get hooked on flying and simply must have one of your own - the price tag on a new two seater plane is $12,000.

Smoking Decision Scheduled

The Andover School Committee Tuesday night is expected to make a decision on the proposed no-smoking policy for Andover schools.

The policy, proposed by Committeeman John Wragg, would prohibit smoking within the schools during school hours, on the grounds during school hours except at functions to which the public has been invited, and at "away" school events, except those to which the public has also been invited.

The rule would apply to youngsters through Grade 10 immediately; through Grade 11 by Jan. 1 and through Grade 12 by the beginning of next year.

Also on the tentative agenda for the meeting, which will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Stowe School, are a summarization of the goals the Committeemen presented at their last meeting, presentation of the calendar for the year, status report of the facilities study, and the question of bus routes for Wild Rose Drive.

There will also be a follow-up on Monday night's Town Meeting. A $680,000 school bonding item appears on the warrant, involving the deferral of a portion of teachers' salaries from the current 18-month budget.

Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, explained that the $680,000 was deferred by the Finance Committee last year, when the budget was prepared, because it would have raised the tax rate another three points, bringing the school's total increase to four points.

He said the townspeople will now be given an opportunity to discuss how the town should come up with the $680,000, which the teachers will have earned by June 30, 1974. Seifert says there are several alternatives: it can be paid off all at once in the new budget, which takes effect July 1, 1974; by bonding it over a three-year period; or by bonding it over a two-year period, absorbing a third of it in the 1964 budget.

ble for the actions of the wardens.

It was pointed out that the officers work with the police department and under the police chief. They do not make arrests as a rule the board was informed. The wardens patrol with walkie-talkies and are in constant communication with the police department.

This apparently satisfied Selectman Greenberg who voted in the affirmative on the appointment.

Selectman French also opposed the appointment of Raytheon guards as constables in order to perform traffic duties on Lowell street.

Vincent P. Foley, community relations director at Raytheon, said the guards were needed to assist with traffic problems at the plant and to correct some problems now existing at the Lowell street, Bellevue road intersection.

William Knightly, chief of security at Raytheon, also addressed the board and said the men had been trained in traffic control and had orders not to make any arrests or write tickets.

Their only authorization is to obtain registrations of offenders. Chief Knightly said he works closely with Police Chief David L. Nicoll on the matter of traffic control and other problems at the plant.

Again the vote of approval for the appointments was four to one.

Flood Plain

There has been legislation governing the granting of mortgages for development in flood plain areas.

Protection is needed, planners note, within flood plain areas to prevent development which could substantially alter a stream, thus increasing flood potential.

For example, new roads and the application of substantial fill in a development area could alter a stream or surface water runoff to an existing waterway.

These are among the considerations which have led the planners to strongly recommend the proposal.

During the past summer, the flood insurance program at the federal level was amended by Congress to provide a considerable effect on some 15,000 communities across the nation.

The program operated by HUD, allows private insurance companies to provide coverage in communities which have a land use program aimed at reducing flood hazards. The program is federally subsidized.

In an unusual move, the Finance Committee was debating this week whether to make a recommendation on the proposal at town meeting. The FinCom which generally reserves its decisions only to money matters, last week decided it may take a stand on the matter, in view of such zoning having an effect on the town's economic development.

That decision was to be made by the FinCom, after the TOWNSMAN went to press this week.

Town Meeting

the town, following adoption of a bylaw adopted a few years ago setting aside the first Monday in October for a second session.

Statute, however, provides for only a single annual town meeting, thus all others must be considered special sessions. As such, the Finance Committee can exercise veto power over expenditures under town bylaws.

The FinCom has exercised that power on an article calling for $14,000 for the widening of Greenwood road to conform to state standards for the installation of a traffic light at the intersection of Greenwood, Lovejoy roads and Lowell street.

The road widening has been recommended by state engineers and would result in the removal of several trees including a huge Elm.

The traffic light requested for the dangerous intersection can still be installed, but no road widening or improvements will be accomplished.

The FinCom has given its approval to the $14,000 mosquito control item, $5,000 for the acquisition of so-called "tea lots," by the town, $4,000 for new parking meters for the municipal parking lot, and $3,000 to replace a police cruiser.

Other articles approved include acceptance of Elm street from Washington avenue to Wilson's corner after the state

DPW makes improvements, authorize Conservation Commission acquisition of properties on Bellevue road and also Pleasant street, and also release an easement in the vicinity of Memorial Hall Library.

Raytheon

Raytheon officials, or some of the neighbors.

As for a playground facility, an item mentioned at the hearing on Sept. 10, there is no agreement or condition that Raytheon is to provide such a facility for the community.

The electronics firm did deed to the town land abutting Osgood street for possible future playgrounds.

The agreement seems to be simply that Raytheon grant the land, but the town is to provide the development of playground facilities.

With the additional information provided, the selectmen voted to approve the storage permit.

Academy

to see if an overall plan to make our common streets both safer and more effectively used can be developed.

"The problems here are clearly common ones. While we all have our own understandable but special concerns, we hope that by coming together solutions to several of these can be reached promptly and in a way that many parties benefit."

The selectmen, in a letter which passed Sizer's in process, informed the academy that "after careful deliberation... finds insufficient benefit to the town of Andover as a whole... to support this substantial allocation of highway construction funds for the project as presented."

Chairman Roger W. Collins in the letter to the headmaster, stated the town had invested substantial money and effort in studying traffic control along Main street and requested the cooperation of the academy in obtaining a comprehensive traffic plan in Andover center.

Andover's support was needed for the obtaining of state funds for the proposed new road construction.

Monday, Headmaster Sizer stated that the academy realized that the Route 28 traffic problem was more complicated than Phillips Academy's special problem. "We don't want to push our self-interested proposal unless it is part of a larger solution that meets the needs of the largest number of interests along Main street."

"We do want some help in protecting pedestrian safety," the headmaster stated.

Fred Stott, director of development at the academy, and who had announced the rerouting plan in August, reported that the academy is asking the town to increase the amount of speeding checks made along the thoroughfare and also to see if the town can take any other steps to provide safety for pedestrians and bicyclists in the area of the campus.

Stott noted that the exchange of letters was a "recognition by both the town and the headmaster that the Route 28 traffic and road use is a matter of concern to both. There is a need to pull together to work for better traffic pattern. The whole vitality of the center of town is to the heart of the issue."

The National Urban League has been awarded a $3.5 million U.S. Manpower Administration contract to prepare 2,130 minority workers in 42 cities for apprenticeship or full journeyman status in construction unions.

Recycled Paper In Demand

Paper for recycling has tripled in value.

Residents should make an extra effort to save newspapers, magazines, cardboard and corrugated material.

The paper should be placed at the curb in grocery bags or tied with string and will be collected the same day as the trash.

The Recycling committee urges residents to take advantage of the current favorable position in the fluctuating recycling market. It is advantageous to the town, as the funds are applied to the town treasury thus assisting Andover's tax picture.

Keep Your Treasure Chest On Zero!

In these days of food crises — shortages, rising prices, and so on — the homemaker can have no finer treasure chest than her very own freezer. In past years a freezer has been something of a luxury. Today's homemaker regards one as a necessity. Industry sources point out that the sale of freezers has leaped to an all-time high in recent months. About the only way to equalize costs of meat, poultry and prepared foods for the foreseeable future will be to buy when sales occur and then use the foods from your freezer over succeeding weeks.

As she wisely stores foods to meet the future needs of her family, the homemaker also owes it to them to insure that these foods are served at peak quality when the perfect "fresh" combination of taste, color, texture and nutritional quality adds up to total enjoyment.

The American Frozen Food Institute has a special word of advice for keepers of the home treasure chest. It is simply this: For peak quality in frozen foods, watch the Mark of Zero! Keep your freezer at 0°F, or below.

Scientific research has shown that 0°F is the ideal temperature at which to hold commercially-processed frozen foods, locking in all their nutrients, all their quality, until they are ready for the family table. So the keeper of the freezer "treasure chest" and the family budget can be sure that these frozen assets retain full quality value so she'll also be getting the most for her frozen food dollar.

Women account for more than 75 per cent of dentists in Finland, 25 per cent of doctors and 50 per cent of druggists.

An Author To Whet Your Appetite

THE TOWNSMAN, SEPTEMBER 27, 1973

By Linda Corbett

Tony Mangifesti is a first-rate chef, who doesn't feel his talents are "wasted on the young," as the old song says, even though his "patrons" are 4,000 Andover public school children.

"I love them," he says, and he sets out to please the youngsters as surely as he would a critical clientele at his own restaurant.

Actually, Mangifesti, who has been director of cafeterias here for the past three years, has his fingers in many pies -- and his latest, a cookbook called "Our Daily Bread," goes on sale in October.

The 200-page book, including some 300 of "my own" recipes, is geared to the housewife and home ec classes. In other words, the dishes serve six to 12 instead of hundreds.

"My own," he says, needs further explanation. They're all recipes he learned from chefs he worked for in the past, then changed to his own taste. "For instance," he says, "everyone prepares meat loaf differently."

The recipes also run the menu from appetizers and soups to entrees and desserts, and in many culinary languages, including Italian, Chinese and French.

The book is being printed by the Greater Lowell Regional High School, 117 Perry St., Lowell, and will be sold through its director of curriculum.

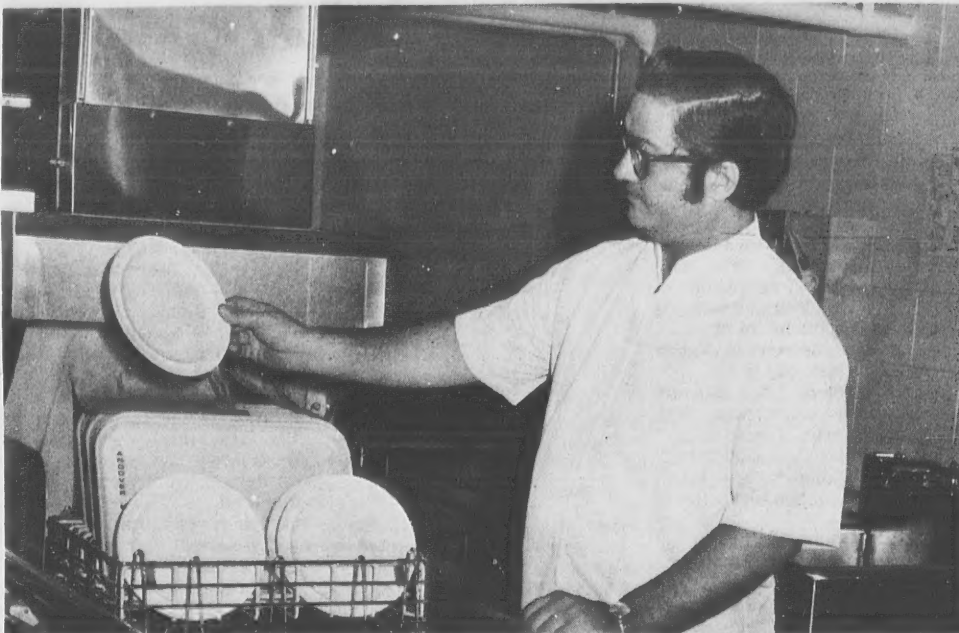

Mangifesti just spent part of the summer setting up a culinary curriculum for the school, which will be the largest vocational high school in the state when it opens next year.

"It's strictly a non-profit venture," he says of the book. "All I get out of it is my name on the cover."

The recipes also happen to be from among those Tony used in a cooking column he wrote for the "The Pilot," a Diocesan paper, during the 10 years he ran kitchens for the Archdiocese of Boston at such places as Regina Cleri, the Home for Retired Priests, the Stigmatine Fathers in Wellesley and the Espousal Retreat House in Waltham.

Tony's love for the cooking business began when he was 11 years old in Lynn, working as a dishwasher and counterboy. When he finished high school, ("There were no culinary programs back then"), he went about getting an education of his own, spending a year each in the kitchen of a hospital, a country club, an institution, and different kinds of restaurants.

"I went to these places with the understanding that I wanted to learn how they cooked and served and ordered," Tony says. He also did a less informative stint cooking and baking for Uncle Sam in the U.S. Navy.

It was when he got out of the service that Tony went to the Archdiocese. Then he spent three years as chef at the Vesper Country Club in Tyngsboro, and took up teaching at the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational School. He became certified through Fitchburg State, where he is now enrolled parttime, working on a degree in vocational education.

"The hard part's over," he says. "I'm half done. I'm a junior now."

Tony makes the rounds of two or three of Andover's nine school cafeterias every lunchtime, and the rest of the school year is busy preparing menus, hiring, ordering food, and generally supervising his staff of 60-plus.

But Tony, who has worked every summer since he was 11, keeps his chef's hat warm in those months by filling in for vacationing chefs at places he used to work. This summer he "subbed" at Regina Cleri, Vesper Country Club, and the Beverly Music Theatre. He also gave a seminar for the state home economics department at Stonehill College, for the second straight year.

The Mangifeste's and their two children were too busy even to take time off for the New Orleans vacation Tony won via a recipe he entered in an Ocean Spray contest -- they took the prize money instead.

"I just cooked up something that everyone has after Thanksgiving dinner," Tony says modestly, "and he followed the Type A pattern set by the State for school cafeterias, which includes two ounces of protein, three fourths a cup of fruit and vegetables and the like.

What he put together, bottom up, was half a hamburger roll, half a cup of cranberry sauce (Ocean Spray, naturally), half a cup of bread stuffing, and two ounces of turkey, topped with gravy.

Among Tony's best received recipes over the years, contests aside, are two that appear in the new cookbook: Italian Bracciale, a rolled beef dish, and stuffed fillet of flounder with Newburg sauce. Then again, pizza and hot dogs are high on the list of his current customers.

Back home, Tony's wife Teresa does most of the cooking, like most other wives, and Tony is slow to criticize.

"I just enjoy eating," he says.

Volunteers Needed

A group of Andover women who are staffing an elementary school library in Boston's Chinatown would welcome other volunteers to join them for one half day a week in this service to Boston's school children. No experience is necessary, merely a love of children and of books.

Mrs. Hart Leavitt is chairman of the group, a part of the School Volunteers for Boston. Four years ago they opened a library in an East Boston school, which they have now turned over to local parents, in order to start on the present project in the Quincy School in Chinatown, in Boston's oldest school building.

Boston elementary schools had no school libraries a few years ago; now there are 95 libraries all run by volunteers, some from the local communities, others who come from Boston's suburbs.

Interested women are asked to get in touch with Mrs. Leavitt.

Contract Provides Teachers Pay Hike

Andover teachers and the school committee have agreed to a two-year contract, which will give the teachers about a four per cent salary increase this year, in addition to their regular increments.

The contract also shortens the salary schedule from 14 steps to 13, gives administrators a straight 4.7 per cent pay hike, and approves the concept of a "sick leave bank" for a person who is ill after his sick leave is exhausted.

Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, emphasized this week that the teachers' raises are in addition to the normal increments they receive each year as they progress up the salary schedule. In other words, a new teacher would automatically move from Step 1 to Step 2 his second year, but Step 2 will now be four per cent higher.

A beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree will now receive $8250, with a top in Level 13 (a teacher in his 13th year with no additional education) of $12,610. Last year beginners started at $7935 and at Level 14 would have received $12,126.

With the shortening of the salary guide to 13 steps, however, Seifert explained the beginning teacher, will hit the top of his range a year sooner. This, then, increases the amounts the teachers will be getting each year along the way, particularly at the lower levels.

The salary range for a teacher with a bachelor's degree, plus 30 hours credit, is now $8600 - $13,410 ($8268 - $12,896 last year); for a master's degree, $9,060 - $14,560 ($8,710 - $13,998 last year); a master's plus 30 hours, $9,060 - $15,130 ($9,261 - $14,550 last year); and specialist, $10,205 - $15,705 ($9,812 - $15,101 last year).

While the school committee and the teacher haven't agreed just how to work out the sick leave bank, Seifert said they had agreed on the concept. Each teacher will give one day of the 15 sick days he earns a year, to the bank. In the event someone is sick after his leave runs out, he will be able to draw, by some method, from the bank.

Seifert said the teachers can accumulate up to 180 sick days. Five may be used each year to attend to a spouse, child, or parent who is ill, and a medical release is needed for a teacher who is out sick for more than five consecutive days.

The contract also gives administrators a straight 4.7 per cent salary increase, but Seifert emphasized that that does not mean that they are getting more than the teachers. There is no salary schedule that administrators automatically climb, simply by virtue of being there another year, as in the case with the teachers, he explained. Their increase is a straight increase, not in addition to a normal increment.

The contracts were negotiated with the help of a fact-finder for the second straight year, and were settled before they reached the mediation stage. Ed Marshall, a political science teacher at Northeastern University, and a frequent negotiator for business and industry, was chief negotiator for the School Committee. Arnie Mendelson of the Massachusetts Teachers Association was chief negotiator for the Andover Education Association.

Conservation Commission To Seek Farm Properties

Moving in a new direction, the Conservation Commission, the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee are considering a major effort in 1974 to acquire several sizeable properties that include Andover farms.

The purpose would be to keep these as active farms, since those farms under consideration are judged both aesthetically and agriculturally important to Andover, because of their character and location.

"The Conservation Commission knows that open spaces enjoyed and taken for granted by townspeople for years are in danger of being gobbled up for development," Mrs. Hammond told the TOWNSMAN. "Governor Sargent just recently pointed out that Massachusetts agriculture has been declining for years, making us almost totally dependent on outside sources for food. He has urged that we reverse this trend, become more self-sufficient, and discourage the sale of viable farm land for other purposes."

"It seems wise for the town to hang on to productive farm land, for future agricultural needs, especially when it adds beauty and diversity to our town. Once this land is sold for development, it is lost forever for farming.

"If the town should purchase farmland, there are all sorts of alternatives," Mrs. Hammond continued. "We could lease the farmland back to present owners, or to new operators, for continued use. Plots could be used by townspeople for vegetable gardening. Woodlots could be managed under sound forestry practices. The farms can serve as an educational resource for the schools, particularly where animals are kept. And there are great recreational possibilities, for horseback riding, hiking and skiing trails."

The town boards' interest in acquiring local farms was fired by an April 26 proposal by Everett and Mary Gendler of Haggett's Pond Road, entitled: "A Preliminary Proposal for the Purchase and Operation of Two or Three Local Farms by the Town of Andover." Mr. and Mrs. Gendler noted that attention had been given to conservation and recreation open lands, but there were compelling reasons for Andover boards to give consideration to the preservation of the third category of open space - productive farm land.

To Explain Available Services

The Merrimack Valley Planning Commission will meet Oct. 15 with the Andover Planning Board, and Nov. 5 with the North Andover Planning Board, to introduce them to the services available through the Commission.

Through its seven professional planners, the Commission can provide technical assistance in day-to-day or long-range problems of transportation, open space and recreation, solid waste disposal, housing and census data, environmental impact, flood plain insurance, local zoning and subdivision controls, land use planning, and knowledge of state and federal agencies.

The Commission hopes to initiate continuing public participation and technical assistance between it and the communities within its jurisdiction, and it hopes through the meetings to draw comments on the next year's program which is due in the Department of Housing and Urban Development by Dec. 31.

Other communities in the Commission's jurisdiction include Groveland, Merrimac, Lawrence, Boxford, Amesbury, Haverhill, Georgetown, Newbury, Rowley, Methuen, Salisbury, West Newbury and Newburyport.

Fuel Problem Emphasized In Study

"All indications point to a serious shortage of home heating oil this winter," says Congressman Paul Cronin (R-Mass). "Hardest hit by this shortage will be New England."

Cronin said that this position, which he has actively maintained since early this year, has been further substantiated by a study prepared for the staff of the Committee on Consumer Economics of the Joint Economic Committee. The report is a prelude to hearings this week on the prospects for a shortage of heating oil. Cronin is expected to testify on the subject.

"This report," Cronin stated, "is only the latest corroboration of that which we have known all along - that we need a mandatory fuel allocation program if we are to make it safely through the winter. The report states emphatically that a shortage for the Nation would not be spread evenly. A six percent shortage for the Nation would be a forty-two percent shortage within New England."

The report concludes that "the prospects of grave problems in these regions (New England, the Mid-Atlantic states, and the Upper Mid-West) are very high, and it is for this reason that mandatory Federal allocation of fuels is now essential and must not be delayed any longer."

"It is hard to believe," the Massachusetts Congressman continued, "that the Administration continues to ignore the stark realities of this crisis even though they have the power to solve it now. Governor Love, the energy czar, continues to pass the buck. Meanwhile, as many as forty percent of the people of New England may go without any heat this winter. This failure to act is not only inexcusable - it may prove disastrous."

Cronin predicted that if the Administration fails to exercise its power to institute a mandatory allocation program through Executive action, the Congress would have to change existing law. "Congress will not stand idly by while the people of New England unjustly suffer. If the Administration fails to solve the problem, Congress will," Cronin predicted.

Mrs. Wright On Committee

Mrs. Harold Wright of Andover has agreed to serve on the Campaign Committee for Lasell Junior College's Capital Campaign, A Program for '76.

Lasell, the nation's oldest private junior college, has embarked on a $5.5 million dollar campaign to raise funds for facilities, faculty endowment programs, financial aid programs, property and building acquisition and educational resources.

Encouraging Response To Course Registration

By Gary C. Ralph

Last week at this time we were holding our first evening registrations for Recreation / Community School fall classes. We decided to hold simultaneous registration on two successive evenings in all of the Andover schools for a variety of reasons.

First, this method highlighted the neighborhood concept on which our department is based. In addition it underscored the fact that we offer classes in all nine schools. We hoped an evening registration would be convenient for working people and we felt it would be more efficient from our point of view to handle the largest part of registration outside of office hours so as not to interfere with our daily workload.

As there is great competition for places in many of our classes, we had to develop a system of registration that ensured fairness for all. As each person handed in his registration form at any one of the nine locations, it was numbered in the order in which it was received. The morning after registration these forms were correlated for acceptance into the classes, we took 9 forms numbered one, then 9 forms numbered 2, etc. until a class was filled.

We could not have undertaken this method of registration without a great deal of help. Twenty-two volunteers, in addition to our office staff were divided into teams and assigned to the schools on each of the two nights. Without their hard work and enthusiasm we couldn't have managed. I thank them all very much.

We processed over 700 registrations in two days. We will continue to take mail and office registrations until classes begin the week of Oct. 1. Now that the heaviest part of the registration work is out of the way, processing additional registrations will fit quite easily into our daily workload.

Another advantage to this system is that we were able to know almost immediately which classes were filled to capacity. By last Friday we had filled Chinese Food Preparation, Pottery, Crochet, Beginning Sewing and Workshop with David Sullivan. We were able to let people know that they could not fit into these classes and so give them a chance to make a second choice. We could see which classes were not doing well. Some of the classes with low registrations we believe to be exciting and worthwhile. We have a chance now, before classes begin, to convince people that these classes have something valuable to offer.

We hope you will appreciate the increased efficiency of this system. We feel that we have things under control. If you have questions about the classes we offer or if you have just now decided on a class you'd like to take, come in and see us at the Recreation / Community School office. With the major share of registrations processed, we'll be glad to see you. We have time to devote to your questions and individual needs.

Doran, Sr.; Vice President, Lyn Hartwick; Treasurer, Pat Prentice; Recording Secretary, Joanne Goodman; Corresponding Secretary, Pat Doran. League Support For Articles

The League of Women Voters will support three articles on the October town meeting warrant.

According to Nancy Mulvey, League president, the decisions to support or oppose articles are made by the League only in those areas that have been previously studied and approved by the members.

Articles 9 and 10. The League supports these conservation articles since they are in accordance with our position of an active open space land acquisition program to preserve the predominantly residential character of Andover and to protect our natural resources for future generations.

Article 13. The League supports this change in our zoning bylaws. The League feels that it is important that the town have some control over building on the flood plains of the Merrimack and Shawsheen Rivers. Although this bylaw does not prohibit building on the designated flood plain, it will require that construction meet certain requirements to be as "flood proof" as possible. Support of this article is in accordance with the League's national policies and procedures which promote comprehensive long-range planning for conservation and management of water resources.

Camporee Scheduled

On October 5, 6 and 7 the Shawsheen District serving Andover, North Andover and South Lawrence Boy Scouts will be camping at the Harold Rafton Reservation on High Plain Road in Andover.

Saturday they will be competing in Scout Olympics featuring football punting and passing, track and field events and Chariot races.

Chairman for this event is John J. Fascione, Jr. who also serves as Scoutmaster for Troop 18 in St. Patrick's Parish.

Aiming Toward A Co-Operative Month

(A Townsman Newsfeature)
A drive for new members for the Andover Co-Op will highlight the local celebration of October as national Cooperative's Month, according to Robert Bretton, Co-Op general manager.

"We're especially looking for new young members," he adds, "to insure the continuation of the Co-Op."

Of course anyone can shop here, Bretton explains, but a consumer's cooperative "is a bunch of people grouping together to buy for less."

This concept will be explained in the first of the Co-Op's special October events, a talk, "Why Cooperate?" at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 3, in the Bay State National Bank meeting room. The speaker, Harrison Drinkwater, will tell what cooperatives are and what they can do.

The Andover Co-Op was started in 1938 in someone's house, and eventually moved to a tiny building, with members minding the store to keep it open. Eventually a manager was hired. At the present location, 68 Main St., the Co-Op first took over a small, existing store, and has since expanded twice, in addition to buying up the whole building and the parking lot behind.

While the Co-Op has so far been confined to groceries, Bretton says they hope to expand into areas other than food. Cooperatives elsewhere, for example, have gone into liquor, clothing, appliances, gas and oil, even funeral homes.

The Co-Op is run by its members, through a board of directors elected at an annual meeting each March. A person joins the Co-Op (there are now 3,000 on the rolls) by buying a $5 share - or many shares - and that investment yields a six per cent return a year, according to Bretton.

In addition, he says, members may turn in their grocery receipts at the end of the year for a rebate - depending on the store's profits.

"The refund program has been very successful over the years," Bretton says, "and we hope to get it going again." While the rebates have been off for the past couple of years, he says, new members and the new management team should be able to put things back together again. "We simply need volume to be able to pay refunds."

Bretton says the store strives to maintain the service and courtesy that big chains seem to have lost, and to add a little bit of personal touch.

"We want to be very competitive," he says, and adding the town's only bakery has been a step in the right direction. "It puts out an A-1 product," he says, adding that the store's center-of-town location and huge parking lot are also major assets.

Other programs Bretton is planning for the month-long celebration include "Anyway You Slice It," a talk on buying, cooking and slicing meats, by Co-Op Meat Manager Gerry Makin and Henry Cambray, Oct. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Bay State National Bank meeting room.

There will be food demonstrations in the store Oct. 18 and 19 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Oct. 20 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"Your Turn," an opportunity for the public to meet and talk with members of the Co-Op board, will be held Oct. 25 and 26 from 3 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m., and Oct. 27 from 3 to 5 p.m.

Harry Bedell, a Bell Labs engineer long active in cooperative movements, is president of the board, as well as treasurer of the board of the Co-Op Institute Association, an educational group made up of consumer cooperatives on the East Coast. Other local board members include Mrs. Shirley Nixon, vice-president; Atty. Alfred L. Daniels, secretary; John Privitera, treasurer; Herb Slater, assistant treasurer; and Mrs. Ann Dowrick, Chester

Jenkins, Robert Sherman, Irving Winn and Lois Simmonds.

Their new management team consists of Bretton, who joined the Co-Op in April as general manager, and David Smith, store manager.

Bretton brought with him more than 20 year's experience in the grocery business. From 1953 to 1965 he worked for Clermont Markets, a small chain in the Lowell area, in every department and as store manager. Since that time he had been with Purity Supreme, starting as a head cashier and working up to manager of six stores.

Christ Church Organ Recital Sunday

Peter Hurford, distinguished British organist, will lead off the 1973-74 Christ Church Concert Series Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Master of Music at the Cathedral and Abbey Church of St. Alban, and founder and chairman of St. Alban's International Organ Festival, Hurford will play a program of sacred music ranging from German and French Baroque through the music of Franck, Alain and Langlais.

Hurford received his musical education at the Royal School of Music and at Jesus College, Cambridge, where he also received a law degree. Twice diploma winner at the Geneva Music competitions, Hurford has made nine tours of North American and three of Australia and New Zealand, including a concert tour for ABC in 1967. He spent the 1967-68 academic year teaching interpretation at the new department of music at the University of Cincinnati, and has recently been a member of the jury at the international music competitions in Bruges and Prague. His specialties are Bach and the late 17th century French school.

Hurford's work includes lecturing and organ design as well as playing. He is currently designing a new organ for the Royal Academy of Music in London and is consultant for the organ now being built by Ronald Sharp in Sydney Opera House, Australia. He recently made a four-hour series of programs for the British Broadcasting Company (BBC) on the music of the French golden age and of Cesar Franck, and is currently recording music of Bach and his forebears in a series to be released next spring.

Hurford has been master of music at Saint Alban since 1957, and in 1963 founded the International Organ Festival, which has been instrumental in an organ renaissance.

Other concerts in the Christ Church series of sacred music include Marleen Montgomery and Friends, sacred music of the Renaissance and Middle Ages, Nov. 11; Advent Festival, Christ Church Choirs and Orchestra, Dec. 9; Robert McKelvey, baritone, Catherine McKelvey, flute and John Koch, piano, Feb. 10; St. Paul's Boy Choir and Men's Schola, March 10; and Robert Prichard, organist of Pasadena Presbyterian Church, April 7.

Sutherland's Expands To Portsmouth
Sutherland's, a leading specialty department store in northeastern Massachusetts, with its major store in Lawrence and a branch in Andover, will open a new store next year in Portsmouth, N.H.

The new 15,000 square foot store will be located in "The Square," an enclosed climate controlled mall, which is part of "Portsmouth Parade," a large urban renewal project adjacent to the downtown Portsmouth shopping area. Direct access to the shopping center is available by a connector from I-95 and the Spaulding Turnpike making the location readily accessible to the whole of southeastern New Hampshire and southern Maine.

It is anticipated that the center will open about the first of June 1974 and in addition to Sutherland's will have about 20 specialty stores plus an A and P Supermarket. Sutherland's will feature women's ready-to-wear, accessories and intimate apparel; china, housewares, domestics and similar household furnishings. Store planners and designers are now busy preparing for the fixtures and interior decorating for the new facility.

The Quality and character of the High Holy Days differ from all other holidays in the Jewish year. The ten day period, beginning with Rosh Hashanah on the first of Tishri and concluding with Yom Kippur on the tenth of Tishri, is known as Yamim Noraim - the Days of Reverence. These two holy days are not connected with any historical event in the life of the people of Israel, nor is the theme agricultural in nature as are all other festival days. In a very basic sense, the Yamim Noraim are the most personal of the Jewish holy days, speaking only incidentally to the community of Israel. The message is to each person as an individual, requiring him to search his inner being, his lifestyle, his values, his relationships with others. The noble ethical values of the Jewish people are held up as a yardstick through worship in the synagogue, but the responsibility remains with the individual to measure his own life. This is a concept of great sophistication, requiring each of us to exercise incredible insight into ourselves, and the ability to make the necessary changes in our life style.

The origins of Rosh Hashanah as the New Year and Yom Kippur as the Day Of Atonement are obscure. Casual mention may be found in the Bible by the careful researcher. The Yamim Noraim are a later development in Judaism, characteristic of a religion having emerged from its agricultural origins.

Cloaked in layers of mysticism and homilectical interpretations over the centuries, the single most telling symbol of Rosh Hashanah is the blowing of the shofar - the ram's horn. Today, the shofar calls of Rosh Hashanah morning remind us of the serious introspection demanding of us during the coming ten days, and the sounds of the tekiah, teruah, sevarim have a bone-chilling effect, reaching to the marrow of the human soul.

High Holiday Services will be conducted by the Temple Rabbi, Harry A. Roth assisted by Cantor Irving Shuman and the Temple Choir and accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Joan Maynard. Morning services on Thursday and Friday, the 27th and 28th, will commence at 9:45 a.m. and conclude at 12:30 p.m.

There will be special services for non-reading children and also reading children up to the age of twelve on both Thursday and Friday morning, in the school wing of Temple Emanuel. Detailed schedule of the High Holiday Services is available from the Temple Office.

American Indian Material

The library has begun receiving Akwesasne Notes, the official publication of the Mohawk Nation at Akwesasne, near Hogansburg, New York. Featured in the current issue are interviews with Vine De Loria and Marlon Brando on Wounded Knee. This an important contemporary source for students of the American Indian in all parts of the country.

For students who wish to delve into the Indians' past, we have an extensive microfiche collection of writings by missionaries and early settlers. These primary sources, dealing with the history of the Indians along with their language, music and customs, are all available on microfiche. Both the fiche and the special microfiche reader may be borrowed for one week at a time.

New Exhibit

A new exhibit is on view in the main reading room of the library. Glenn Miller, an Andover sculptor, has loaned us several pieces of his stoneware sculpture which will be on display until Oct. 10.

Children's Room News

By Jan Johnson

To start October off with lots of color and fun, join us for the Scrivener's Contest on Monday, Oct. 1, at 4. What is a scrivener? He's an artist who draws with chalk on the sidewalk. We'll supply the chalk, the sidewalk, the judges, and the prizes. You bring your imaginations and a friend and meet in the Children's Room. We'll have a great time! (By the way, if it rains on Monday, just plan to come on Friday, Oct. 5 at 4 instead. The chalk and the sidewalk will still be ready for you.)

Pajama Party and Littlest Listeners start that week too. If you have registered your child for any of these storyhours, you will have received a notice of when to bring him/her by now. If you have not registered your child, aged 3½ - 5 (by Oct. 1), please call us at the library (475-6960) to do so.

VIBOR begins that week too. The Very Important Board of Review meets from 3:45 to 4:45 on Wednesday afternoons beginning Oct. 3. It is a board of children in grades 4, 5 and 6 who read publishers' catalogs and professional book reviews and help the librarian decide what books and records to buy for the Children's Room. In addition, they read the new books we do buy and indicate their approval or disapproval by applying a VIBOR seal to the former. This club is open to everyone in grades 4, 5 and 6 and all we ask is that you be able to attend regularly. Boys, you are especially invited! We usually have quite a few girls in the club, and you wouldn't want them to be choosing all the books we buy for you, would you? Come to our first meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 3 at 3:45!

To Perform 'Peanuts' In Reading

Happiness comes to Reading's Quannapowitt Playhouse on Oct. 11, 1973, when a troupe of talented QP's perform the musical "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown." Nearly 40 years of theatrical know-how will be used by the Quannapowitt Players who excel in whatever production they elect to do.

Director Sally Murdock of Reading is busy molding QP members into the celebrated "Peanuts" characters. They include: Jack Hartley (Charlie Brown), Wakefield; David Latham (Linus), Boston; Neil Gustafson (Schroeder), Boston; and from Reading, Tony Laschi (Snoopy), Barbara Cann (Lucy), and Carol Alterio (Patty).

A program note says that the time of the musical's action is "an average day in the life of Charlie Brown." It really is just that, a day made up of little moments picked from all the days of Charlie Brown, from Valentine's Day to the baseball season, from wild optimism to utter despair, all mixed in with the lives of his friends (both human and non-human) and strung together on the string of a single day, from bright uncertain morning to hopeful starlit evening.

Years of the cast is actually six years old. And they don't really look like Charles Schulz' "Peanuts" characters. But this doesn't seem to make that much difference once we are into the play because what they are saying to each other is with the openness of that early childhood time and the obvious fact is that they are all really quite fond of each other. This is what the musical is all about.

Proceeds from these October performances will help defray the cost of a new lighting system now being installed in the Playhouse.

Tickets may be purchased at the Book Nook, 78 Haven Street, Reading or at Laschi Hair Stylist, Main Street, Reading.

For ticket information, call the Quannapowitt Playhouse or contact any member of the QP's.

A study of federal employees revealed women between the ages of 41 and 60 used less sick leave than younger women, according to the U.S. Commission on the Status of Women; both age groups of women used less sick leave than their male counterparts.

Warriors Win 13-8 Thriller

By Rick Harrison

Somebody once said that an athletic team's best offense is a good defense, and the Andover High football squad was a perfect example last Saturday when it opened the 1973 season with a big 13-8 victory over Wilmington before 1,600 fans at Wilmington.

Not only did the win extend the Golden Warriors' two-year victory streak to nine straight games, but it snapped defending Merrimack Valley Conference champ Wilmington's win skein at 13.

Andover's defense limited the Wildcats' veteran offensive backfield to a net total of 44 yards rushing, and it also scored the first touchdown when Bob St. Amand blocked a punt and Co-Capt. Ray Pizarro ran it back 36 yards to paydirt.

This snapped a 0-0 tie that existed until midway in the third quarter. Sophomore Bill Alexander toed the conversion for a 7-0 lead.

Junior fullback - quarterback Jeff Winters swept the left side for a clinching 10-yard TD run early in the final stanza to make it 13-0, and Wilmington rallied for its lone tally moments later.

The Wildcats had two additional chances in the waning minutes of play, but again the defense was equal to the task as T.J. Stamus and Bill DeLuca came up with key pass interceptions.

Andover managed statistical edges in first downs (10-8), yards rushing (95-44) and total yardage (188-157).

Fred Bellissimo's Wilmington crew had the advantage in yards passing (113-93) and scrimmage plays (65-62).

Senior fullback Bob McCarthy paced the AHS ground corps with 56 yards in 15 carries. Winters wasn't far behind with 37 yards in 11 lugs, while Steve Fabiani chewed up 14 yards in four totes.

Andover Coach Dick Collins had stated in pre-season talks that his pass-receiving would be well-balanced. It was never more evident than Saturday, when 6-of-16 aeriels were completed to six different players.

Hauling in tosses from Mark Sweetser and Bill Alexander were Fabiani (31 yards), McCarthy (18 yards), Winters (17 yards), Stamus (13 yards), Alexander himself (8 yards) and George Stedman (6 yards).

"It was a pretty even game, but there is no question in my mind that we were the better football team today," stated Collins after the game in which he defeated his "jinx" opponent.

Among the long list of defensive standouts who turned in some sure-handed tackles were Bob Burrow, Co-Capt. Jeff Towne, Winters, Pizarro, Bill Haskell, Steve Richards and Frank Kenney.

Many of these same players were also opening wide holes in the Wilmington defensive line for the Golden Warrior runners.

Andover Threatens
Andover kept the ball in Wilmington territory virtually throughout the entire first half, but several threats went by the boards.

The locals took the opening kickoff and steadily marched from their own 25 yard line to the Wildcats' 17.

Alternate four and five yard bursts by McCarthy and Winters advanced the leather to the Wilmington 48, and then Alexander lofted a 31-yard halfback option pass to Fabiani which carried to the 17.

Sweetser and Fabiani were stacked up for no gain, and after a delay-of-the-game penalty Winters was hauled down by Jack Stygles for an 11-yard loss back at the 33 to kill the drive.

Sweetser, who averaged 33 yards for eight punts, backed Wilmington against its own goalline with his first kick. The Wildcats couldn't move, and Doug Stewart's punt under pressure went a mere seven yards to the Wilmington 12. An Andover fumble on the first formation eliminated any thoughts of a score, and then the exchange of two punts put the Wildcats' back at their own 10 as the first period ended.

Quarterback Carl Butler began connecting through the airwaves, moving Wilmington to the Warriors' 44 after successive completions to Ray Noel (16 yards), Doug Stewart (16 yards) and Tom Woods (10 yards).

The drive fizzled when a third down option pass from Noel to Stewart was broken up at the Andover 15 by Towne, DeLuca, Stamus and Stedman.

The Warriors' next series featured a 13-yard Sweetser-to-Stamus pass completion, but the visitors were forced to punt after a third down aerial attempt to Stedman at the Wilmington 15 was aborted by Stewart.

The final threat of the first half came when Andover assumed control at its 32 yard line with 25 seconds to play.

Sweetser immediately found Winters for a 17-yard pass play, and only a fine tackle by Dean Devlin kept Jeff from breaking loose.

After a pass to sophomore split end Glenn Verrette fell incomplete at the Wildcats' 20, Sweetser hit Alexander for eight yards.

Winters exploded on a 14-yard run to the Wilmington 29 as time ran out, but he fumbled anyway with Noel recovering.

Pizarro Scores
Ray Noel almost ran the second-half kickoff back for a score, rambling from the Wilmington 16 to midfield before he was dragged down from behind.

Again the Wildcats couldn't sustain an effective offense, and Doug Stewart dropped back to punt.

St. Amand came busting through and stuck up both hands. The ball tipped off his fingers and went straight in the air. Pizarro fulfilled the lifetime dream of a defensive lineman, grabbing the ball in mid-air and rumbling down the left sideline for the score.

Suddenly Ray Pizarro led the Andover team in scoring after being sidelined for the bulk of the pre-season with an injured elbow.

Alexander's PAT boot snuck over the crossbar for a 7-0 bulge at 5:29 of the third quarter.

The second Golden Warriors' TD was set up three plays later when Stamus intercepted a Butler pass at the Wilmington 44.

McCarthy bucked the line for nine yards in two tries, and after Winters was stopped cold, Sweetser inched for the first down at the Wildcats' 33 yard line.

Sweetser then found McCarthy in the flat for an 18-yard pick-up to the 15.

McCarthy gained two yards, Sweetser hit Stedman with a six-yard look-in toss and McCarthy lost three yards. This forced a fourth-and-five situation at the Wildcats' 10.

Winters moved in at quarterback and took the ball to the left side. After shaking one tackler he broke free and romped home untouched.

Rick Howlett blocked Alexander's PAT attempt, but the Andover bulge was 13-0 at 1:15 of the final period.

Wilmington Retaliates
Ray Noel took the ensuing kickoff, streaking from his own 19 to the 48 before Winters nailed him.

Dean Devlin, last year's leading MVC rusher who had just 40 yards in 18 carries on Saturday, keyed Wilmington's 10-play, 52-yard trek to paydirt with 32 yards in six lugs.

Butler eventually plowed over from the one yard line for the touchdown. Wilmington came out with a widely-spread offense for the conversion try, and Butler hit Noel with a quick pass to make it 13-8 with 5:29 remaining in the game.

After an exchange of punts and a timely fumble recovery by Alexander at the Andover 20 yard line, Wilmington regained control at its own 46 with 1:48 to play.

Butler dropped back to pass to Woods, and interference on Andover gave the Wildcats a first down at the Warriors' 30.

Two more aeriels fell incomplete, and then Stamus intercepted in the endzone to end the threat.

Wilmington had the ball for the final time with two seconds left, but a desperation Butler pass was swiped by DeLuca as time ran out.

Chelmsford Next
Andover returns to action this Saturday (1:30 p.m.) against Chelmsford in the Lions' den.

Chelmsford is 1-0 in MVC play and 1-1 overall. After a 20-14 non-league loss to Lowell, Coach Dick Bove's team blanked Tewksbury 22-0 last Saturday.

Key players to watch for the Lions are Blair Ely, Jim Finnegan and Bob Kelly. Ely has scored three touchdowns and gained 180 yards rushing in two games. Quarterback Finnegan and tight end Kelly are a good passing combo, standing 6'5" and 6'3" respectively.

The Summary:
Andover 0-0-7-6-13
Wilm 0-0-0-8-8
TDS - Pizarro, Winters, Butler
PATs - Alexander, R. Noel.

Andover Boys In Regionals

Andover West Elementary school was well represented in the finals of the Greater Lawrence Punt, Pass and Kick Competition conducted by Nassar Ford last week.

The competition was conducted in two phases with the first phase being conducted on Monday at Lawrence Memorial stadium and the finals at Hayden - Schofield on Wednesday night before a crowd estimated at 1200.

Andover emerged with two first places, a second and a third. It was almost three firsts as Andover's Ted Kelley lost a heart-breaker in the nine-year-old division.

The Andover entrants started off right as eight-year-old Dick Kelley, a third grader, won easily and was the surprise of the competition with his totals. The next category resulted in Ted Kelley losing the heartbreaker of the evening. Ted seemed to have the competition wrapped up in the nine-year-old bracket only to have his last kick slice off the side of his foot and cost him an almost certain title by a very narrow margin.

In the eleven-year-old division two Andover boys locked heads with David Nardone easily besting all competition with Tom Consudes finishing third. Nardone, a big boy, brought the crowd to its feet with his demonstration.

David Nardone and Dick Kelley will now represent Greater Lawrence in the Regional Championships to be held Oct. 6 at 9 a.m. The Regionals will be held at Lawrence Memorial Stadium this year.

Opening Doors For Education Exchange

THE TOWNSMAN, SEPTEMBER 27, 1973

By Helen M. Eccles
The Soviet Union's Deputy Minister of Education came to Andover Saturday to visit Phillips Academy, and told the TOWNSMAN that the door has now been opened for secondary school faculty and student exchanges between the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Konstantin Nozhko, second in command of all USSR education, is head of a delegation of four prominent Soviet educators taking a ten day tour of U.S. Schools, studying the planning and direction of education on national and local levels in this country. The Russians came to Andover to become acquainted with American independent education in general, and Phillips Academy in particular.

Accompanying Nozhko were Mikhail Ziyazovich Akmalov, Pro-Rector of the Pyatigorsk Pedagogical Institute, a 5,000-student teacher training institute; Ivan Aleksandrovich Popov, senior reviewer, Admin. of Council of Ministers on Higher, Middle and Professional Education, and Andrey Tropimovich Sayko, Department Chief of Public Education in Donetsk.

The Soviet educators sampled the Russian tapes at the Phillips Academy language lab, the computer programs at the math center and the hamburgers at the coed boarding school's dining Commons. Four Russian-speaking Phillips Academy language teachers led the tour, and PA students who speak some Russian came along to answer questions and converse in their visitors' native tongue.

A spirit of cordiality that goes beyond detente marked the Russians' visit to Andover. Phillips Academy headmaster Theodore R. Sizer broached the subject of faculty and student exchanges when he welcomed the Soviet educators to the newly coed boarding school. The Russians responded warmly to this opening. Nozhko later explained to the TOWNSMAN over a cup of tea and through an interpreter that the United States' then Secretary of State William Rogers and USSR Foreign Minister Gromyko recently signed a cultural exchange agreement which means there is no reason why school exchanges of both faculty and students cannot take place. "We would like to see more cooperation between us. It is just beginning."

Russian Department Chairman Alanson Stevens and instructors Georges Krivobok, Robert Lane and Susan Carney led the visitors through classrooms, gymnasium, labs and athletic fields, answering intent questions, explaining educational procedures and exchanging pleasantries in fluent Russian. This left non-Russian speaking reporters in the party to nudge interpreters to query: "What are they laughing about now?"

Mr. Popov tried handling a football with members of the Phillips football team and Mr. Sayko and Ms. Carney were singing a Russian song together on the way back from the athletic fields. Headmaster Sizer later said he felt that the Russians felt so much at ease because of the number of people who could talk Russian with them at Phillips, and because of the importance that the school obviously places on the Russian language. He noted that Dr. Ronald Minne, chairman of the science department, is urging science students to study Russian to keep up with the large amount of important basic scientific study now being conducted, and published, in the USSR.

The serious intent of the Soviet educators was described by Deputy Minister Nozhko as "learning what educators are striving for in America, and how they are going about it. We are interested in concrete matters (educational procedure and equipment) and also in the traditional and social historical perspective."

Many of Mr. Nozhko's concerns will sound familiar to Andover citizens who attend school committee meetings. He talked about audio-visual aids - the Russians are hosting an International Exposition on Educational Equipment in November. Nozhko spoke of the aim of education in the USSR as being "a preparation for life," a familiar educational phrase to Americans. However, when the Russian deputy minister of education spoke of schools in the USSR as being "free" - he stopped and corrected himself.

Mr. Akmalov, the pro-rector of the teaching institute laughingly translated: "He means free of charge - not free schools."

Russian education is much more centralized than American education, Nozhko said. He claims that when certain educational equipment is judged valuable and necessary by a central educational advisory committee, it is supplied to all schools everywhere. All schools work according to one plan from kindergarten on up, to meet certain absolute minimums.

Variations can be added from region to region, to meet special cultural and language variations. Students follow the same basic plan for the eight compulsory years (beginning at age seven) of the 10 years of elementary and secondary schooling, but they can vary their program by adding electives to this basic required curriculum.

"What is the hardest part of Mr. Nozhko's job as Deputy Minister of Education for the USSR?" "Disagreements" - was his first laughing reply - that fundamental human factor.

More seriously, he stated that the hardest part is getting around to all the school regions. There are 184,000 schools in the Union of Socialist Republics, a land mass that encompasses 10 time zone changes. It is as far from Moscow to Vladivostok, he pointed out, as it is from Moscow to Andover!

AHS Offers Scholastic Tests Oct. 27

The Guidance Office of Andover High School will offer the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test / National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) Saturday, Oct. 27.

The PSAT/NMSQT can help the student assess his ability to do college work, evaluate his plans for college, and choose his senior-year courses. It also gives experience with timed tests made up of multiple-choice questions, and gives him an idea what to expect when he takes the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), which many colleges and universities require of their applicants.

Furthermore, taking the PSAT/NMSQT is the first step necessary to be considered for scholarships administered by NMSC. If a student is eligible and wishes to be considered for merit, special, and achievement scholarships that will be awarded in the spring of 1975, he must take the PSAT/NMSQT now.

Students may register with Mrs. Sweetser in the Andover High School Guidance Office.

Course For Math Aids Planned

The Andover Learning Disabilities program is again offering training for volunteers who would like to work with individual students with learning problems in math.

Those wishing to receive training are requested to sign up for the course which will start Oct. 3.

Volunteers who attend should plan to spend an additional two hours weekly (hours to be arranged individually) in practicum with teachers who are employing these methods in their classrooms. After completing the course, those trained will be expected to volunteer one morning, or equivalent, per week.

The course will be offered Wednesday from 1 to 2:30 at the Jackson school with Nancy Deacon as teacher.

For additional information or registration contact the reading department office in the Stowe school or Myra Baker.

Beacon Hill Observations

by Bill Kirtz

The state Banking Commission may be asked to force banks to drop false "notions" about minority groups' fitness to get home loans.

That's the belief of Glendora Putnam, chairman of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination (MCAD).

A report just compiled under a federal grant indicates that lack of understanding of minority culture may be hurting many state 'residents' chances to own their own home.

Mrs. Putnam say researchers found that "banks, insurance companies, and large developers and realtors have various kinds of devices to screen out minorities" from buying homes.

Elaborate credit checks that stress the number of adults in a family who work may work against minority groups, says Mrs. Putnam. "Both the husband and the wife have to work to get by, but an insurance company might not like them both to be away from the house at the same time."

The MCAD will now develop ways to eliminate some practices noted in the report. The federal researchers worked closely with the state's Insurance Division and Mrs. Putnam thinks such cooperation with the Banking Commission may produce solid results.

How ready are banks to change their tactics voluntarily to give minority groups an equal chance at home loans?

"They're not," says Mrs. Putnam. "They have a lot of ingrained notions that certain kinds of people make good homeowners and others don't, and that thinking isn't easy to change."

The MCAD can propose legislation to alter credit checks so they don't discriminate against minority groups. But Mrs. Putnam notes that an Executive Order lets the Banking Commission do the same thing without new laws.

There were no great surprises in the federally-financed report, the MCAD admits, "but it did confirm our belief. When an individual gets rejected because of discrimination the practice is subtle. The big institutions have formal mechanisms, instead."

How can these large banks and insurance companies improve their loan practices?

"By training loan officers to understand minorities," Mrs. Putnam believes, "and by recruiting more minority group members on a policy-making level so as not to fall into some of these traps I've mentioned."

Beside home-buying, the Commission is primarily concerned with job discrimination, and will soon vote on which companies to single out as "targets" to be charged with such bias.

Until recently, the MCAD had tried to handle anything which came across its desk - and it drew some criticism for failure to focus on specific problems in specific industries.

Now, with the appointment of two new investigators, Mrs. Putnam hopes "target" probes will cut bias by setting an example to the whole state.

What Our Readers Say-

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

The League of Women Voters of Andover urges the voters to attend Town Meeting Monday night, Oct. 1, at 7:30 p.m.

Although the warrant is not long, there are articles of importance to us all, and the presence of a quorum will assure that the town's official business can be carried out.

Town meeting is truly the last bastion of participatory democracy. Don't miss the opportunity to be a part of the democratic process - it's your privilege and your responsibility.

Nancy M. Mulvey, President
LWV of Andover
104 High Plain Road
Andover

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I agree with Mr. Wragg of the school committee that cleanliness in school is a must. Sloppy Joes are not good company anywhere, especially in a school building. So let's not criticize Mr. Wragg, because he had the courage to step into a very controversial subject, lice and smoking.

Personally, I believe that word CLEAN should be the watch word of the students. Let them consider what it means to have clean minds, bodies and habits and personal appearance. They would be better students and no doubt be better friends to have and to know.

The late President Theodore Roosevelt said to a group of college students, "Keep your eyes on the stars and your feet on the ground." He was a great American. He was a great leader, because he knew what it meant to keep clean mentally and physically. The Boy Scout "Be Prepared" is also a good idea for students to follow.

So don't condemn Mr. Wragg because he believes in cleanliness in our schools. He is working for a good program. No smoking and no lice. Vermin is no good anywhere and smoking is no badge of honor. It contaminates and causes bodily harm to the smokers.

So again, let me say to the students in Andover, Mr. Wragg was elected to the school committee by a majority of the voters and therefore he speaks for that majority. So why not play ball and play the game fair and square. Remember, in all games, the man with the whistle calls the shots and what's more usually all play stops when the whistle blows, when a rule has been broken.

Students have to live by rules and regulations while in school, so let's all reason together, and you will be a better student and hence become a better citizen, which is the goal of all public education.

COMPOST SHREDDER - GRINDER

MODELS PRICED FROM $149.95

Produce rich compost using nature's own sources. Turn tree prunings into topsoil mulch for shrubbery and flower beds. Grind leaves and other garden waste to decompose quickly into valuable humus fertilizer, thus re-cycling waste organic materials back to the soil. This positively improves soil conditions and helps in growing stronger and more healthful crops. This is the method used by professional gardeners the world over; good compost means a good garden. The finer your materials are ground up, the more quickly they decompose in compost, and the neater they look as top mulch. These units can also reduce the volume of your rubbish by shredding or grinding paper, tin and aluminum beverage cans, cardboard or plastic bottles, and even the limbs up to 1 1/2" in diameter.

We also have a complete line of lawn vacuums, leaf blowers, and wood shredder-chippers. Models for home and commercial use.

Stan Kenton In Concert At Academy

Stan Kenton and his 19-piece orchestra will perform in George Washington Hall on October 2nd, Tuesday night, from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m. This will be the 46th annual concert on the James C. Sawyer Foundation. You are cordially invited to attend.

There is no admission charge. However, seats will be reserved. Tickets can be obtained in advance from Miss Thiras at the Information Desk in George Washington Hall.

Stan Kenton is a man who believes in change. Not change just for the sake of change, but change for the sake of revitalizing the traditional. As a musician and orchestra leader, his reputation has always been somewhat controversial. He says, "I've been called a pioneer, but I've also been called a fool for tampering with the familiar."

In his work with music students in high schools and colleges, he hopes to bring about a change in music education. "I feel that a student is being short changed if he is offered only one side of music. We bring jazz to campuses, not because I feel that jazz is the only music that is worthwhile, but because I feel that jazz, rock and the classical works are all important musical forms and our youngsters should be exposed to all of them."

"Our audiences are changing, too," Kenton says. "We have always had an enthusiastic following of the over-forty group who remember the Band from its early days. Now we are seeing more teens and twenties, who are discovering jazz for themselves, and who like it. The rock-oriented younger people are changing. They are finding there is more excitement in music which has substance."

The Recreation / Community School Department has openings in several fall semester classes that begin the first week in October.

Photo 2, a Creative Workshop, was added to the line-up of fall classes due to the extraordinary interest in last year's Photography 1 class. Photo 2 is designed for the individual who wants to explore further possibilities of creative use of the camera, such as working with color film, darkroom work and printmaking.

Spanish 2 is an advanced workshop for those who took Spanish during the winter semester or who had Spanish in school and would like to refresh their knowledge.

Small Business Management is a must for all who are considering a home run business, or turning a skill to profit. This course includes what should be known about permits, taxes, wholesale and retail prices and purchasing.

Advanced Ballroom dancing offers two benefits to those who enroll. Instruction in new steps and an inexpensive night out with other couples who love to dance.

The Recreation / Community School Department is offering Historical Doll Dress Making again this semester. Marilyn Pratt has developed a project she shared with her own daughters into a class for everyone. Using inexpensive material scraps, Mrs. Pratt constructs historically accurate period costumes for dolls while imparting passing on a bit of the social history of America.

Camping and Hiking is for individuals and families interested in traveling inexpensively. The course covers preparations, purchasing, safety and itineraries for one day hiking trips or extended camping journeys.

Arts Council Opens Office

The Merrimack Valley Council on the Arts and Humanities announces the opening of offices in four locations: Newburyport, Haverhill, Lawrence and Andover.

Robert Dewis, executive director of the council, will work from each office at different times during the week.

The locations, day of the week and Dewis's office hours are:

Lawrence, Lawrence Public Library, 51 Lawrence St., Wednesday, 10 - noon.

Andover, Memorial Hall Library, Elm Square, Wednesday, 12:30 - 2:30.

Haverhill, Chamber of Commerce, 87 Winter St., Tuesday, 11 - 1.

Newburyport, YMCA Civic Center, 96 State St., Thursday, 11 - 1.

During these regular office hours, Dewis will be available to talk to individuals or representative of groups interested in the arts, either in person or by telephone. At other times during the week, messages can be left for him at any one of the four locations.

Good News

The decision by Phillips Academy officials to withdraw the proposed road around the west end of the campus, replacing Route 28, is indeed good news.

We look upon Route 28, or Main street, as it bisects the campus as among the more beautiful entrances to a community. It is something unique to Andover and irreplaceable in aesthetic value.

The plan to detour travelers around the campus would seem to be a deprivation of this.

Elm Square

---- where almost daily there is mass confusion regarding the lights there.

As most local residents are aware, when a person enters Main street from either Elm or Central streets, the green signal means clearance for a continued travel.

The red light they are facing is for motorists on Main street.

But, this is most confusing to visitors, and, we surmise, even some local residents get confused from time to time.

Correction of the matter has been promised through the TOPICS program for many months. This, of course, is a state program, with its incumbent characteristic of being lengthy.

Town Meeting

Town officials are justifiably concerned about the obtaining of a quorum Monday night for the October town meeting.

As for issues with allure, the October meeting warrant probably leaves something to be desired, thus the concern.

For the compulsory call to order on the first Monday in October, the town must expend in the vicinity of $1,000, in order to prepare for the audio system, extra chairs, adequate public safety protection, and other incidentals.

It has been our experience that generally when a dull session is forecast, something generally happens to spice it up and make it interesting.

So when we view the agenda, we do not necessarily look at it in such a foreboding manner, in the hope that the citizenry of Andover will show up in sufficient numbers Monday night to be able to transact municipal business.

After all, it is your town and your democratic system you are promulgating by your attendance, and your interest in municipal operations.

Join us Monday night in viewing and participating in what Moderator William Dalton promises to be an expeditious Andover town meeting. That promise, in itself should be sufficient to attract interest.

Mosquitoes

Next Monday Andover voters will be asked to appropriate $14,000 to continue the mosquito control program initiated this year.

Due to weather conditions this past spring, the larvaciding program could not be carried out, thus preventing a complete and adequate control program.

The department of public works is hopeful that such a project can be carried out next spring thus further curtailing the annual problem created by mosquitoes.

No doubt there will be appeals by conservationists to prohibit any spraying or mosquito control projects in the town.

But we feel strongly that such a program should be carried out.

It is not due to current encephalitis problems or hysteria, as some would think, although such argument is strong to effect control.

It is simply that we think the majority of the people would prefer to be able to use their back yards during the summer months without surrendering their personal property to pesky, dangerous bugs, that behooves us to urge a continuance of the mosquito control program.

We can appreciate some feeling by academy officials concerning safety of students and faculty at the academy, but also view this as something which can be corrected with concentrated, co-operative effort between the town and the school.

And, while the co-operative minds are working on improving safety standards along that section of Main street, possibly we could impose on them to assist in the greater problem of solving the matter of - - -

But, while the study proceeds and is awaited, the dangerous condition exists.

This week, two lines of traffic were tied up as one motorist awaited the change in a red light to proceed down Main street, while another awaited the same light to allow him to proceed over Elm street.

A few frayed nerves and blasting horns corrected the matter.

But we much prefer some more specific attention to this problem.

Some local remedy is preferred, even if only temporary, rather than waiting out the overall traffic safety report concerning Main street, and the sooner the better.

Off The Top Of The Desk

North Andover High's football team may be suffering this season due to it being a rebuilding year, but we might suggest they should have some top track candidates.

Judging from reports concerning making the school bus at the end of the school day, from the far end of the building, is like breaking the mile record.

If nothing else, the school should be able to produce some good dash candidates.

Add Vermont to the states we prefer driving in rather than Massachusetts.

A trip through the Granite state last weekend found the roads in excellent condition, the scenery just great and relaxing driving conditions.

Actually it becomes more evident that once you get beyond the barrels on Massachusetts highways and enter another neighboring state, your driving troubles are over.

Amazing the fortunes of baseball and accompanying job security.

The New York Mets, floundering a few weeks ago, seemed headed for new management at the end of the season.

But, now, back in the thick of the National league pennant fight, Yogi Berra seems safe at the helm for another year.

Meanwhile, Eddie Kasko, also seems safe for another year, unless he gets "bumped" upstairs to make room for an anxious Darrell Johnson down in Pawtucket, who has had much success with the Red Sox farm clubs.

Doesn't look like too good a year for quarterbacks. Namath is out for possibly the season and Archie Manning and Roger Staubach were injured in Monday night's pro football contest.

For the male of the species, George Blanda did a lot to redeem the "older set," after the Bobby Riggs tennis match last week.

With 55-year old Riggs soundly defeated by Billie Jean King Thursday night, the 46-year old Blanda "single-footedly" halted the Miami Dolphins win streak with four field goals Sunday afternoon.

From the Merrimack Valley Works Newsletter of Western Electric comes information for those of us who appreciate the computer age.

John Bardeen who won the Nobel prize in 1956 for discovering the transistor had to have a neighbor transport him to the University of Illinois recently for a teaching assignment.

Reason: he couldn't get his car out of the garage, since the transistorized garage door opener wouldn't work.

This year you may not have to travel to the Berkshires to see the beautiful fall colors that go with the season. Incorporated into the Fall Modern Living Home Improvement Show will be floral and garden displays sponsored by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society that will cover twenty five thousand square feet of Mammoth Commonwealth Pier Exhibition Hall. The Show will run nine days Oct. 20 through 28.

Experts from the leading garden and nursery concerns will be working on the physical arrangements two weeks prior to show time. These same professionals will be in attendance throughout the run of the show to provide consultation and guidance on fall planting, soil preparation and utilization of shrubbery to enhance the home. Floral displays will feature those perennials that are suited to the New England Climate in addition

Museum In Tribute To Mrs. Cabot

The Boston Museum of Fine Arts pays tribute to an artistic detective in the Textile Department with the exhibition Nancy Graves Cabot: In Memoriam. Mrs. Cabot revealed certain old prints and book illustrations as the design sources for textiles and other decorative arts.

On view in Gallery T-1 through Dec. 2, the exhibition demonstrates important discoveries made by this prominent Bostonian. Tapestries, printed cottons, and a variety of decorative art objects dating from the 16th through 18th centuries are compared with related prints to demonstrate their dependence. Romantic pastoral and dramatic biblical scenes of the textiles and objects clearly derive from prints and book illustrations.

Although Mrs. Cabot's research includes varied media and many historic periods, she concentrated her detective work on Stuart and Tudor embroideries and French and English printed cottons which are featured in the exhibition.

Mrs. Cabot's role as artistic sleuth demanded great skill, patience, and a bit of luck. She made quick pencil sketches to aid her remarkable memory.

The Mystery Of Migration

By Polly Bradley

To be walking along on a crisp autumn afternoon... to hear the distant honking of wild geese... to look up and see the V-formation silhouetted against the sky is an awesome experience.

How do they know, so self-assuredly headed south, that they are going the right direction? What faraway marsh or lake did they fly from? What warm winter vacation are they headed for?

And why am I so earth-bound that I cannot spread wings like an angel to join them in some heavenly land which surely must be closer to the land of hopes and dreams than we mundane mortals can ever know?

The mystery of migration isn't yet solved (and some of us romanticists secretly hope it never will be), but scientists are still studying the problem and have found a few clues.

Wild geese and other migratory birds seem to be able to orient themselves in relation to the sun. They know how to head in approximately the right direction. Once aimed in the general path, they apparently depend upon visual cues to tell them exactly where to go. In other words, they remember the way.

Wild geese, being good parents, fly with their young, as a family group, from the nesting ground in the north to the southern winter feeding ground. And the next spring, still as a family, they head north again together. They usually follow water: the East or West Coasts of the United States, or the Mississippi River. Some fly along the eastern edge of the Rockies.

But in addition to finding the water landmark, wild geese can find the specific marsh or lake or pond which is their ancestral home. They fly each winter to their traditional feeding ground, and back again each spring to the very nesting spot they know as goslings.

Along their route, they must find feeding places. They do not fly the entire distance at once, but stop many times to rest and eat. That is one reason why it is so important to protect our marshes. If too many coastal and inland wetlands are drained, the birds cannot eat... and their migration could not continue.

There have been many exotic theories on bird migration. One theory held that birds could sense the earth's magnetic field. However, when scientists tied tiny wing magnets on homing pigeons and sent them flying through a strong magnetic field, the birds were not bothered at all... at least as far as navigation is concerned.

But even if ornithologists could solve the remaining puzzles of bird navigation and get everything into a mathematical formula to feed into a computer, the mystery itself would still remain.

Mobile Job Unit Successful

The Mobile Job Unit has exceeded all estimates of success during its first visit to Lawrence. The mobile van, sponsored by the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce and the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security, processed 172 job applicants in the first two days. The Mobile Unit utilizes the Job Bank Computer from the Lawrence office of the Division of Employment Security and has on hand interviewers from that office as well as recruiters from local industries and businesses.

Richard C. Gilliland, director of the division of employment security, paid a visit to the mobile unit and, in view of the unit's phenomenal success, authorized overtime pay to allow the unit to open on Saturday of last week to better service Greater Lawrence job-seekers.

The unit is located on Essex Street across from Sutherland's in front of the Central Building. It will be in the Lawrence area every third week for the next three months, its next visit being the week of Oct. 8.

WANTED: RARE GEM

Somewhere there is as a rare gem of a secretary who is a real assistant to a president.

The kind of a girl I'm looking for is hard to find. Look at some of the qualities she should have:

- * An enormous sense of humor
- * A professional business attitude
- * A sales personality
- * A large appetite for work
- * An ability to follow through
- * An ability to make decisions
- * Can work with little direction
- * A delightful appearance

In addition to all that - she should have excellent typing, shorthand and office skills. She must enjoy meeting people and managing all the varied duties of a one-girl sales office.

I know this girl is hard to find, but if you have most of these qualifications and would like to work at a challenging position in a pleasant Andover office (hours: 8:30 to 5:30) for a president who needs you badly, please send me a resume. Kindly include salary desired.

Write me at:

School Census Scheduled

According to State law (Chapter 70, Section 5, and Chapter 72, Sections 2 and 2A), every superintendent of schools shall file annually with the Commissioner of Education a report of the number of minor children whose parents or guardians are residents of the town and who were enrolled on October first in the following schools: public, private, vocational and regional-kindergarten through grade twelve. Children attending other than local schools are also included.

In order to complete this report, a census of all school age children will begin the first week of October. At the same time, a pre-school census will be taken to be used as a guide to school authorities.

This census will be under the direction of the Andover Public Schools. Census takers for each precinct are as follows:

- Precinct 1 - Mrs. Katherine Bozzi, 78 Princeton Ave.
- Precinct 2 - Mrs. Katherine Burns, 56 Wildwood Road.
- Precinct 3 - Mrs. Irene Need, 13 Glenmeadow Road.
- Precinct 4 - Mrs. Constance Denoncourt, 11 Marion Ave.; and Mrs. Judith Kirkland, 33 Washington Ave.
- Precinct 5 - Mrs. Mona Calthorpe, 77 Central St.
- Precinct 6 - Mrs. Lorraine DeLucia, 30 Holt Road.

to some of the more sophisticated plantings.

The hobbyist around the house will find some extremely interesting and new ideas for home improvement displayed throughout the one hundred and seventy thousand square feet of exhibits. Demonstrations of working with unfinished furniture will be a daily feature.

Autumn is tree feeding time. Plant food put into the soil around roots of trees will help overcome weaknesses induced by summer heat, lack of moisture, ravages of insects, battering of winds, and stimulate new root growth right up until the ground is frozen solid.

Mr. R.A. Bartlett, says lawn shade trees should be fed at least every two years. Bear in mind: Feeding the lawn doesn't feed the tree on it.

Trees themselves "tell" of their need for food in many ways, notably: Premature leaf fall means a weakened root system. (Feeding will build up leaf tissue for next year.) Runt-size buds indicate lack of vigor. (Feeding will restore active strength) A tree merely holding its own with little twig growth may be at starvation level. (Feeding will put that tree on a healthy diet.)

Important, says Mr. Bartlett, is generously feeding with a well-balanced treefood: Feed liberally, placing the food in crowbar-made holes three feet apart and up to 18 inches deep beginning three to four feet from the trunk of a mature tree and extending well beyond the branch spread. The small hairs of feeding roots absorb the tree food in solution. Most of these are located in the outer three-fourths area of the tree's root system.

Retailers Meeting Thursday

The Retail Council of the Andover Chamber of Commerce will hold its Annual Retail Meeting on Thursday evening, Oct. 4, at the Lanam Club. The evening will begin with a Dutch-treat social hour at 6 p.m., followed by a roast tenderloin of beef dinner at 7. The business meeting will follow dinner at 8:30.

The dinner committee, under the direction of Retail Council Chairman H. Charles Heseltine, has been working on the business session outline which will include discussion of the year's retail calendar, Christmas decorating program, and several special projects proposed for the coming year.

Reservations may be made by contacting the Chamber office.

Conservation Group Seeks Volunteers

The Conservation Commission is looking for interested citizens to become associate members of the Commission, to help it fulfill its responsibilities to the townspeople.

A number of people with expertise in biology, forests, appraising, real estate, land transfer, or with active outdoor interests, or simply with a keen interest in conservation and the preservation of open spaces are needed, according to Mrs. Virginia Hammond, secretary of the Conservation Commission. She said other conservation commissions in the state rely on the help of an associate membership to carry out their responsibilities for acquisition, development and management of conservation lands.

The Andover Conservation Committee already has an active trails committee, and oversees for each reservation, but Mrs. Hammond says the Commission is creating the associate membership to supply needed new members to these, to assist the commission with the research necessary toward new land acquisition; and to help the Commission bring up to date and expand the Open Space and Recreation Report.

The Selectmen have instructed the Conservation Commission to bring up to date, and to expand, the Open Space and Recreation Report of 1973. Mrs. Hammond says associate members will be invaluable here. "A seven-person appointive body which is not fulltime cannot possibly fulfill all the Conservation Commissions obligations to the town without help. But the Commission feels that we have enough qualified people in Andover to do a good job of modernizing the Open Spaces and Recreation Plan without resorting to paid consultants."

Citizens interested in serving as associate members of the Conservation Commission in any capacity should telephone Mrs. Virginia Hammond, Hidden Field, Phillips Academy, or leave their name at the Planning Board Office at Town Hall.

Concert Sunday

The 350th anniversary organ concert given by Kenneth Wilson on the great pipe organ of the Hammond Castle in Gloucester on June 30, will be repeated by popular request on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 30 at 4 p.m.

Mr. Wilson's program which was planned by Mrs. Corinne B. Witham, museum director and Mr. Wilson, is a memorial to those who go down to the sea in ships, and includes Mr. Wilson's own composition Fanfare: Processional, "Captain's Courageous," composed especially for this program and dedicated to historic Gloucester on its 350th Anniversary.

The program is divided into sections with Ships that Pass in the Night; In Memoriam: Home is the Sailor, and They That Go Down to the Sea in Ships, concluding with John Dykes' Eternal Father, Strong to Save.

The unemployment rate for Vietnam-era veterans 20 to 29 years of age was 5.9 per cent in March, marking the seventh straight month in which there was no significant difference in the unemployment rate for veterans and nonveterans of this age group.

Before the Indians came, a species of horse roamed North America. They stood about six feet high, and had short legs ending in three clawed toes.
